Connect

In cooperation with University Advancement and Marketing, the Cullen College of Engineering launched an eNewsletter as part of an electronic system employed to enhance college and university communications to our alumni, donors and friends.

One of the many new features of the system is the subscription management tool, which allows you, the user, to subscribe to multiple university newsletters and announcements, regardless of your connection to that entity. For example, if you are an engineering alum who has a distinct interest in the arts, then you will have the opportunity to subscribe to the CLASS newsletter.

In addition to the subscription tool, there is also a link that allows you to simply update your information in the university advancement system. We appreciate all updates to your contact information, as we want to stay in touch!
